Hungarian Artist Sees U.S. On The Open Road And In Doing Odd Jobs

BY RAYLYN PENNEY

A Hungarian-born former Carmel artist has just completed an intensive look at the patchwork surface of America. And, like Walt Whitman, Grant Wood, and any number of other artists of pen and brush who've done the same, he has concluded that the beauty of the land is monumental and ever surprising.

Jim and Marie Solt took their three teenaged youngsters, their Volkswagen "bus," five bedrolls, a Coleman stove and some picnic supplies and made a 10,000-mile circuit of the country. They sought out back roads, fished in country ponds, passed the time of day with villagers at country stores and gas stations, sent the kids tobogganning down a mountain snow slide in dish pans and generally tried to behave like vagabonds rather than tourists.

But Jim, who is a tireless and usually accurate interpreter of human behavior, says this sort of trip is far from unusual. It is, in fact, the same sort of adventure many American families are having on their vacations.

Sociologically speaking, Jim says, we are moving outdoors to get away from television, and our recent emphasis on a spectator existence. If television was a thesis in our history, than camping is its antithesis. If people wanted only the fresh air, they could take a walk on the beach. But they want more. The spirit of camping out and moving around means that there is, after all, a simpler and perhaps nobler life to be lived if you are equal to it.

Proof of this was the large number of fellow Americans they met camping out during their stay in 13 national parks and monuments, two national forests, nine state parks and two county parks.

And with increased numbers on the road, the business of touring

Crosby Opens Local Community Chest Drive On Sunday

Richard Osborne, chairman of the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest 1959 Fund Drive, announced today that the chairmen for each district have been appointed and that captains in all areas are now recruiting volunteer workers for the campaign which will open Sunday night with a broadcast by Bing Crosby over radio stations KMBY and KIDD, television station KFWB-TV, Salinas.

Carmel chairmen are Mrs. James C. Glaser, Jr., residential district; Walter Pilot, business district.

This year the Chest budget is larger than last year. Increased rentals were unavoidable and unexpected. A $2,500 increase was asked for the Carmel Youth Center, also the addition of another nurse to the staff of the Visiting Nurse Association and a third case worker at Family Service.

The Salvation Army, which has just completed its drive for 1958, will no longer conduct separate fund drives and is now dependent upon donations to the Community Chest for funds. Chairman Osborne urged everyone to remember that there are five added agencies this year, each of which would have

State Experts Here On Edgren Murder Case

Two experts from the California Identification and Investigation Bureau came from Sacramento today to assist Chief of Police Clyde Klaumann in his investigation of the murder of Mrs. Robert W. Edgren, whose body was found Monday afternoon in the upstairs bedroom of her home at Torres and Ninth Streets.

The 83 year old widow was lying on her bed in her nightgown, a towel with which she had been strangled, knotted around her neck. There was no evidence of a struggle, or that the house had been ransacked. Her purse, near her on the bed, contained $40 and some change. Tuesday Carmel police found about $900 in currency in several paper-wrapped packets in a sewing basket in the bedroom closet.

An abrasion over her right eye and two on her arm could have been from a fall, and a bloody hand print on the bed pillow and another on the inside of the door frame of the back door could have been her own, Chief Klaumann said, since she had poor eyesight, had fallen several times in the garden and been assisted into the house by neighbors. Photos of these prints were taken to Sacramento for examination by the C. I. I. Wednesday by Sgt. William Ellis, and other specimens, including human hair found on her hands. The latter was identified as hers, Ellis reported this morning. The bloody print was too smudged to be identified. Prints on her purse were also smudged. The towel had her laundry mark. However, Chief Klaumann, who was at first inclined to believe that the death was the result of a freak accident, is now convinced that she was murdered, he said this morning. There are other specimens the C. I. I. is examining in Sacramento, and the two C. I. I. men, Harry Cooker, an investiga-

Lacy Williams Wins Kippy Stuart's 100 Year Contest

Lacy Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meade Williams, has been awarded first prize in the Kippy Stuart 100 year contest. She is a Carmel High School graduate of the class of 1958 and will enter the University of Oregon on September 15. Mrs. Herman Medwin received honorable mention.

The Pine Cone instigated the contest when our Garden Columnist Kippy Stuart pointed out the responsibility of gardeners to keep their bit of land beautiful for "future generations" as well as for themselves. Wondering about the future generations, we asked our readers to give us a picture of what would be taking place 100 years from now on the acre in Hatton Fields Mesa where Kippy Stuart's house and garden now stand. This is how Lacy sees it:

Adams Reveals New Five Zone City Master Plan

City Building Inspector Floyd Adams formally unveiled "A Proposed Zoning Plan For Carmel's Present C-1 and C-2 Zones," the entire commercial area, at a joint study session of the city council and planning commission yesterday afternoon.

It has color appeal, five zones instead of the three that contented professional planner Larry Livingston: dark blue, light blue, yellow, red, and green and white stripes.

It is difficult to describe without resorting to lot and block numbers because the zone boundaries run through the middle of the blocks rather than along the streets.

We do not have a picture of the map to reproduce here because we were denied permission to photograph the map before yesterday's unveiling, or even to see it, after its brief exposure at a council meeting a month ago. Since then it has been a tender secret among Building Inspector Floyd Adams, City Clerk Lawrence Rose, City Attorney John Morse, the three who created it; Mayor John Chitwood, who put them to work on it; and the C-2 property owners, each of whom was provided with a copy of the map well in advance. The rest of the business community, about 80 percent of the commercial property owners, may go to city hall if they wish to see how their land has been down-graded in the new plan, or borrow a map from a C-2 property owner, or bear with the following description; for a description is necessary, to understand Floyd Adams' report on proposed changes in zoning and uses.

The red zone straddles Ocean Avenue from Seventh to two lots South of Fifth, and from the middle of the block between Junipero and Mission to Casanova. This is framed by a yellow zone which is a half block wide on the south and east, a block wide on the north, and peters out entirely on the west. A pale blue elbow shaped zone, half a block wide, extends along the east side of Junipero from Sixth to the middle of the block between Fourth and Fifth, and thence down Fourth to San Carlos. Encircling the entire picture is a dark blue frame, in general a half block wide, along the boundary line between the residence and business districts.

Outside the business zone boundary line, portions of residence zone lots have been green and white hatched for city-owned parking lots: one of them faces on Fifth and Dolores Streets; one on the east side of Junipero between the Presbyterian Church and Eighth Street. There are several others.

Here is Adams report:

Red Zone—C-1—This is the essential business area for retail and general office use. Approximately as it now exists, it now has the minimum of multiple residential use. This area should be protected from future penetration of large scale and specialized motel and hotel uses. Permissible uses to be the same as the present C-1 Zoning Law, with the exclusion of multiple residential use; but provision to be made that apartments on the second floor, or the rear 50% of a lot, may be continued

Planning Board Sets Hearing On 3 Motel Ordinances

The Carmel Planning Commission, at the end of their regular session yesterday afternoon, set September 10, 4:00 o'clock, as the date for a public hearing on three newly proposed interim ordinances to control multiple dwelling (motel) construction in the business districts. The ordinances were sent to the commission for a public hearing by the city council, which, yesterday afternoon in a meeting immediately preceding the planning commission meeting, killed the 60-40 urgency amendment to the interim zoning ordinance by a vote of 3-2 and framed two new 60-40 ordinances based on the de-

City And County Approve Budgets Set Tax Rates

The Carmel City Council, meeting Monday, adopted the 1958-59 budget and set the tax rate at 96½ cents, broken down as follows: general municipal expenses, 37 cents; capital outlay, 4 cents; library 37 cents, retirement system, 16 cents, library bond 2½ cents.

This is a 5 cent reduction of last year's rate. Councilman Everett May voted no, maintaining that the tax rate should be kept up and money set aside to purchase city parking lots; to improve the library and for other capital outlay. The four other councilmen voted yes.

The reduction in city tax is offset by a 5 cent increase on Carmel Sanitary District tax to provide for additional sewage lines. Tax was set at 27 cents.

On Monday, also, the County Board of Supervisors approved the general county rate of $1.70, the same as last year. This year's junior college tuition tax will be 52 cents. Carmel Unified School District $2.31 general, bonds, 29 cents, totaling $3.12—way up.

GROUP SEEKS TO ORGANIZE CITIZENS FOR PLAN

Several interested persons met with Admiral C. W. Fisher Wednesday afternoon to discuss methods of interesting a large number of Carmel citizens in forming an organization "to give impetus to adopting a master plan and a zoning ordinance to implement it before January 1, when the interim ordinance expires."

Admiral Fisher and his committee believe that if citizens can sit down together, discuss differences and difficulties, it will be found that there are more areas of agreement than is realized.

CARMEL HIGH SCHOOL PRACTICE STARTS SEPT. 2

Although school isn't scheduled to start until September 15, Carmel High football players will hit the turf next Tuesday afternoon in their first full-uniform drill of the 1958 season. All football candidates, varsity and junior-varsity, are asked to report to the gym office for medical exams at 9:15 a.m. today (Thursday) or tomorrow. Uniforms will be issued Monday morning at 9:00 a.m. First contact action for the Padres is slated for Friday night, September 19 when the Annual Football Jamboree is held at the Salinas High School stadium. Since CIF regulations require 15 days practice before the Jamboree the Padres will have to squeeze in a Saturday session to keep a clean eligibility slate.

The Padres are defending champions in both the varsity and junior-varsity sections of the B-division CCAL and will naturally be pointing for another undefeated season. Carmel's rooting section is also defending champion of the Jamboree, having won the trophy during last season's CCAL jamboree.

A look at the returning lettermen in the various schools throughout the league shows that Gilroy, King City, and Hollister are well fortified with experienced hands and should be making a strong run for the 1958 championship. Carmel will have 10 varsity lettermen returning for action this season but a fine crop of rookies moving up from Fred Rainer's junior-varsity champs should fill the vacant spots. This season's returning lettermen are Dare Conroy, fullback; Cim Conway, quarterback; Phil White, end, Norman Coleman, tackle; Sam Farr, tackle; Steve Gann, center; Dennis Peavey, halfback; Bill Hicks, end; David Vincent, center; and Al Eaker, guard.

CARMEL SWIMMERS WIN TRI-COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP

Paced by record-breaking performances by Doyle Clayton and Pat Mosolf, the Carmel swim team piled up 307 points in the Annual Tri-County Meet to outdistance Salinas by 46 points. Third-place Watsonville had 183 points followed by Pacific Grove with 154, Monterey 152, Gilroy 98, and Santa Cruz 56. Powerful Doyle Clayton swimming in the 13-14 age group zipped the 50-yard freestyle in 26.8 to lower the standard for this event and came back late to break the 50-yard backstroke mark with a fine 32.1 effort. Pat Mosolf broke the 13-14 age group 50 yard backstroke record when she touched first in 39.9 seconds. Besides Clayton other double winners for Carmel were Ann Giles, 50-yard butterfly and individual medley; Cathy Dancy, 100-yard freestyle and individual medley; and Tim Lauer, 100-yard freestyle and 200-yard freestyle. By winning the Tri-County Meet, the Carmel swimmers ran their consecutive win streak to 35 straight including three consecutive victories in the Tri-County Meet. There will be no more team action for the Carmel swimmers this season but they will compete with the Tri-County All-Stars against the Redwood City swimmers this Saturday morning at the Carmel High pool. Tri-County swimmers finishing in the first three will provide the opposition for the classy Redwood City swim team in a meet which is slated to start at 10:30 a.m.

Point-makers for the Carmel team in the Tri-County Meet: (15-16 age groups) Tim Lauer, 1st 100 and 200 freestyle; Mike Cook, 1st 50 backstroke and 2nd 50 butterfly; Bert Blanks, 1st 50 breaststroke; Cathy Dancy, 1st 100 freestyle and 100 individual medley; Susie Peterson, 2nd 100 freestyle; Liz Van Loben Sels, 2nd 50 backstroke; Janice Meyenberg, 2nd 50 butterfly; Rachel Wickham, 2nd 50 breaststroke; and the 100-yard winning relay team of Susie Peterson, Janice Meyenberg, Cathy Dancy, and Liz Van Loben Sels.

The 13 - 14 age group — Doyle Clayton, 1st 50 backstroke and freestyle; Mike McGibney, 3rd 50 freestyle; the winning 100-yard relay team of Doyle Clayton, Gary Butler, Ricky Baldwin, and Mike McGibney; Pat Mosolf, 1st 50 backstroke and 2nd 50 freestyle, Ann Giles, 1st 50 butterfly and individual medley; Lesley Strosnider, 1st 50 breaststroke and 2nd 50 butterfly; and Jane Martin, 3rd 50 butterfly.

The 11 - 12 age group — David Rosenkranz, 1st diving and 2nd 25 backstroke; Ron Jella, 1st 25 butterfly; Chris Lauer, 3rd 25 freestyle and backstroke; Mary Pat Palmer, 2nd 25 butterfly; winning 100-yard relay team of Ronnie Jella, David Rosenkranz, Maynard Peterson, and Ronnie Berry; 2nd place 100-relay team of Barbara Giles, Sherry Wilson, Jody Oenning, and Ruth Ameil; Ruth Ameil, 2nd 25 breaststroke. (9 - 10 age group) Tina Miller, 25 backstroke. (7 - 8 age group) Gary Aebersold, 3rd 25 freestyle and 25 backstroke. Open diving: Candy Knapp 1st place, Janice Meyenberg 2nd place, and Joy Fehring 3rd place.

HENRY OVERIN HAVING GOOD SEASON IN NEBRASKA

Henry Overin, former Carmel High pitching great, is enjoying a fine season with Wayne, Nebraska in the Elkhorn Valley League. Overin jumped the pro ranks this year for the two-games-a-week action in the fast Nebraska semi-pro loop. The former Padre is a versatile performer for Wayne, pitching, playing the outfield and first-base. In a recent outing against the Northwest Iowa All - Stars, Overin posted a 6-2 victory in a 16-inning thriller. The local lefty went the entire distance in this one, striking out 15 and issuing only one walk, an intentional pass in the 9th inning. In his next trip to the mound, Overin struck out 19 over the 9-inning route and again gave up only one free trip to first as he posted an 8-4 league victory. Besides playing baseball for Wayne, Overin has full-time employment there and plans to continue his job when the season is over.

SYKES LOFT WINS PIGEON RACE

Homing pigeons of the George Sykes and Son loft made the best time from Willows, California, approximately 200 air miles, to win the Monterey County Fair Pigeon Race on Sunday. The birds arrived at their destination at average speed of 1137.322 yards per minute.

Second in the Fair race, which included 165 birds from nine lofts, were pigeons of John Scott of Carmel Valley with an average speed of 1107 yards per minute. Next in order of arrival were lofts belonging to Jean Barbier, Andy Anderson, Gus Souza, E. Barry, Maurice Hanssens, John Alves and Gerry Artellan.

Next week's race will be flown from Gerber, California.

has improved in certain ways. Most camping facilities are better. (But California needs more roadside and state parks away from the coast.) Nearly every state has litterbug laws and the highways are comparatively clean. The addition of museums and information centers at the parks and points of interest add immensely to the vagabond's store of information, if he takes the time to look them over.

However, the billboard situation remains about the same. In Jim's words, "I don't want to be driving through our impressive natural territory and have to read, 'Use toastie-postie-kickies.' This sort of thing is most disturbing near national park approaches." On the eastern turnpikes, which have no regulations against billboard advertising, there is a mysterious tendency to plant trees in front of particularly obnoxious signs.

The Solts and Jim's son and daughter, Peter, 15, and Paulette, 13, and Marie's son, Jim Zimmerman, 14, spent eight weeks on an itinerary which took them north to Oregon, east to Michigan, south to Ohio and Pennsylvania, through New England, New York City, the southern states, the Southwest and home.

In his story of the trip Jim admitted also, "When I first came to this country I had a ready-made idea of what an American was like. Now I know more than ever that he's all kinds of people."

This is the same man who a few years back used to "do everything" in Carmel, so he certainly is no stranger now, even though he recently moved to Del Monte Park and now teaches English and social studies at Pacific Grove Junior High School.

"Do everything" means he was the star route mailman, he delivered the San Francisco Chronicle, painted signs, drove Joe's Taxi and was a sort of one-man force at the former McDonald's Dairy then owned by Gene Ricketts, where he washed the bottles, pasteurized the milk and then hopped in the truck and delivered it. Meanwhile, he painted some fine portraits, then went back to school at Stanford and received a master's degree in education.

And his prior history is just as variegated. He was born in Budapest, grandson of a water miller on the Danube and son of a horticulturist specializing in wine growing. He became a professional soldier and an officer in the Hungarian Cavalry, spent some time in the merchant marine and went from Bombay to Rio and everywhere else, then came to this country in the thirties.

He was at different times a concessionaire with Barnum and Bailey, a punch press operator, a horse trader, riding instructor and even a groom. He was again in military service in this country during World War II.

More recently he operated a riding stable in Santa Cruz during summer vacations from school.

It was during his Stanford stretch that he met Marie, who was there getting a master's degree in psychology. She had taught on the staff of Tulane University in a demonstration school and done extensive work with emotionally disturbed youngsters. She comes originally from Pennsylvania. Now she teaches at Bay View School.

Jim's mother, Mrs. Irma Solt, joined her son in this country a few years ago and now lives on Santa Rita Street in Carmel.

For photo enthusiasts, the camera the Solts carried on their long trip was a 35 mm. Voigtlander. (He composed the photos; she snapped the shutter.)

For scenery they felt they were exposed to the best. "Lassen Peak," Jim says, "can match the Swiss Alps. A village in Arkansas can match a village in Central Europe for quaintness. And nothing at all can match the beauty of a Minnesota farm." Then he amended, "Nor is there anything quite like the Monterey Peninsula."

Mrs. Edythe Dallas Owner Of Coffee Shop Of The Golden Bough

Mrs. Edythe Dallas is the operating-owner of Coffee Shop of the Golden Bough, located in the historic court off Ocean Avenue. Upon her purchase of the enterprise, Mrs. Dallas re-named the restaurant. She plans to serve "light" breakfasts: fruit juices, Danish pastries, toast, doughnuts and sweet breads. For luncheon her menu will include a variety of salads and sandwiches, and homemade cakes and other desserts. Afternoon tea, with toasted English muffins or cinnamon toast, also is a feature of the Golden Bough Coffee Shop.

Long an admirer of Carmel, where she has visited and vacationed for several decades, Mrs. Dallas now is a permanent resident. Previously she lived in Philadelphia where she was a social worker and registered nurse. At one time she served as investigator and social worker for the Neuropsychiatric Division of a Philadephia's Quarter Sessions Court.

OILS WIN POPULAR VOTE

Work of two Carmel painters won the popular voting on art entries in the Monterey County Fair, Jesse W. Corsaut and D. Kirke Erskine.

Mr. Corsaut won in the professional division with an oil, Daisies. The Cove — Santa Cruz, was winner in the amateur division title for Mr. Erskine.

NEW GREAT BOOKS GROUP

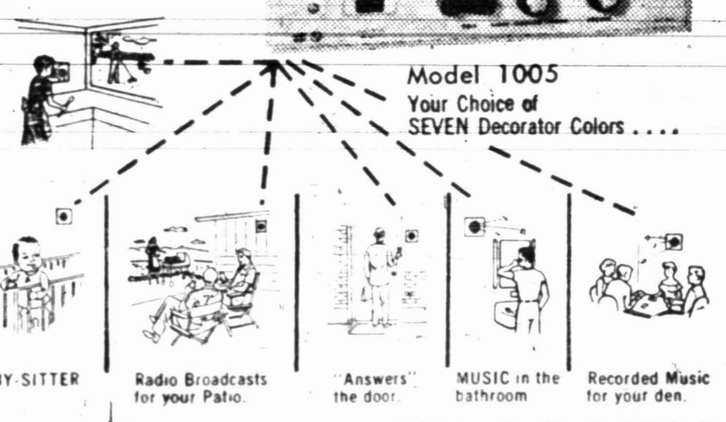

John Lenk has been chosen leader of the Great Books discussion group planned for Carmel. All interested persons are asked to meet in the Monterey Public Library at 8:00 in the evening on September 5 for a rally. If enough persons signify interest at this time, arrangements will be made with the Great Books Foundation to start either one or two groups in Carmel. Courses of reading under the Great Books plan will be selected, also, at the rally a week from tomorrow night.

The mail this week included a note from a former oldtime Carmelite, Winsor Josselyn, who began his reporting career in 1915 on the Pine Cone, the item being, he recalls, a report on a garden club meeting. Winsor is now a public information officer for the U. S. Army Transportation Terminal Center, Bay Area, Fort Mason, San Francisco.

Winsor says, "Recently I was going over papers from Peninsula newspaper years and was amazed at the yards of columns I had done for the Pine Cone under such titles as Red Yesterdays (World War I, not Commie), Village News Reel, Station KRML, These N' Those, Carmel How Come, World Wonders, Abalone League (I was a player in the first games on Carmel Point in the early 20s) Little Bright Eyes, and Uncle Al's Barber Shop Ballads.

"How all those words got written, where the source of material was gotten and whether I had any readers, year in and out under Perry Newberry, Hal Garrott, Ross Miller, Ranald Cockburn et als. . . . is a dim memory."

Winsor promises to come and see us next time he is in Carmel visiting his two brothers, Lewis and Tal Josselyn. We've moved Winsor, but I'm sure we still have your old desk in the new building.

A recent conversation at the home of Mona and Henry Williams disclosed the belief that, at some period of their lives, most persons have written a poem. To prove this theory the Williams invited 30 friends to their home on Saturday evening, each guest to bring a poem they had written. Mona read the 30 unidentified poems placed in a basket and guests voted for first, second and third place awards. Mrs. Jesse Lynch Williams, Henry's mother, won the first prize, Mrs. Natalie Conway's poem was given second place and Reese Wolfe took third award.

The poetry included such diverse subjects as Carmel tourists, amoebic division, the space age, sack dress, frozen foods and man's inhumanity with styles ranging from limerick through ballad and ode to free verse. At the end of the evening the assembled group agreed with their host and hostess that most persons can express ideas through the poetic medium, both humorously and seriously.

Waves swept in covering the beach on Tuesday night. Yesterday morning, after they receded, pools of water extended along the cliffs to the discomfiture of sunbathers and volley ball players. Cooke's Cove at the foot of Thirteenth Street was a large pond with a stranded volley ball net in the middle.

Children, however, took advantage of the shallows for wading, filling sandcastle moats and sailing sundry boats made out of any material they could find nearby.

The bulldozer tracks which have been evident on the beach for the past few weeks were all but obliterated by the surging waves.

Kurt von Meier and Dick Elmore returned to Carmel on Tuesday with the news that paintings they took to San Francisco had been accepted for exhibition and sale by Art Unlimited gallery. Kurt will show two caseins and Dick two watercolors. Last week the two young men showed their work on Monterey Wharf. They both leave for further study in Europe next month, they both have beards, and they both have been asked to submit more pictures to Art Unlimited at 14 Tillman Place.

They had the beards before they went to San Francisco, and any resemblance to Beatniks is strictly superficial and coincidental.

PUBLIC NOTICE

PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN TO ALL PERSONS bearing an interest in the matter that the Planning Commission of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, pursuant to provisions of Sections 65656, 65657 and 65658 of Article II, Chapter I, Title 7 of the Government Code, and of subparagraph (e) Section 1015, Article 9 of the Municipal Code has called a Public Hearing for the following purpose:

TO CONSIDER SIMULTANEOUSLY three Ordinances sent down by the City Council at an Ajourned Meeting of 27 August, 1958, applicable to the C-1 and C-2 Zones as such Zones are defined in the Municipal Code, which would respectively: (a) Amend AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE ORDINANCE CODE WITH RESPECT TO DISTRICTS C-1 AND C-2 by adding a provision excluding from the purview of the Ordinance new construction and alterations to contain use in existence on the site prior to 31 October, 1955, and eliminating specific limitations on the number of dwelling units permitted on a building site; (b) Amend AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE ORDINANCE CODE WITH RESPECT TO DISTRICTS C-1 AND C-2 by adding a provision excluding from the purview of the Ordinance new construction and alterations to contain use in existence on the site prior to 31 October, 1955, and retaining specific limitations on the number of dwelling units permitted on a building site; (c) AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE ORDINANCE CODE TO PROVIDE FOR POPULATION DENSITY CONTROL, which adds to Ordinance No. 236 N.S. a general requirement that the Commission have regard for density of population in approving applications for building permits.

SAID PUBLIC HEARING will be held in the Council Chamber of the Town Hall on Wednesday, 10 September, 1958, at the hour of 4 o'clock P.M.

Date of Notice: 28 August, 1958.

Planning Board Sets Hearing On 3 Motel Ordinances

feated ordinance with added clauses including a "grandfather" clause to protect longtime Carmel multiple dwelling property owners. The third ordinance up for a public hearing originated with the C-2 Property Owners Association and asks that densities of construction and population in an area shall be required considerations for multiple dwelling building permits, as well as street width and classification and the location use, size and topography of site and the type of business housed in any proposed construction in the business zones. The third ordinance also has the "grandfather" clause.

The "grandfather" clause provides that any building in the business zones which was in existence prior to October 31, 1955, may be altered or rebuilt, if destroyed or demolished, provided the use of the property is the same. New zoning ordinance requirements will not be mandatory. Requirements in existence prior to October, 1955, such as two-thirds offstreet parking for multiple dwellings and two and a half percent front setback will be demanded, however, for such alteration or rebuilding. This "grandfather" clause is the answer to the longtime multiple dwelling owners who pled hardship at both planning commission and council public hearings on the now extinct 60-40 (motel) amendment.

The first new ordinance up for planning commission public hearing on September 10 specifies only 60 percent of a building site may be covered by multiple dwelling construction, but 1000 square feet of site per unit is not required and includes the "grandfather" clause.

The second new ordinance includes the "grandfather" clause, the 60 percent coverage demand, and does demand 1,000 square feet of building site for each multiple dwelling unit.

Third new ordinance, proposed by the C-2 Property Owners Association, in addition to the "grandfather" clause and interim ordinance requirements in effect since October, 1955, asks that the amount of offstreet parking, setbacks, open spaces and provisions for landscaping shall be determined by type of business, location, size and topography of site as well as existing density of permanent-type construction in the immediate vicinity, width and classification of street upon which site abuts, density of population, both in the immediate and general area.

Also this third ordinance requires that any resolution of the planning commission issuing a building permit shall specify type and acceptability of use, specific parking and/or loading zone requirements, if any, for the site, approval of the proposed appearance of the structure, and requirements for setbacks, open space and landscaping and that this resolution be made part of the building permit when issued to the applicant.

After the September 10 public hearing on the three ordinances the planning commission may send a report to the city council recommending adoption or rejection of any of the ordinances as they stand. The planning commission can suggest additions or changes in any of the ordinances in their report. They can fail to report on any of them, in which case, the council will have to wait forty days before proceeding with any action on the proposed measures to control motel building in Carmel.

The planning commission yesterday afternoon decided that, while the three new ordinances are being processed, the most stringent regulations in any of the three proposed ordinances under consideration must be met in any multiple dwelling plans submitted to the commission for consideration. In effect, this maintains the "motel moratorium", at present in existence.

After and if, the council receives the planning commission reports on any or all of the three ordinances, the council sets a public hearing if they wish to act on any or all of them. They can reject any of them. The council is not bound by the commission reports on the ordinances and they are not required to act upon them. Fastest time in which any of the proposed ordinances may become effective in one month.

TWO AMBULANCE CALLS

The Red Cross Ambulance operated by volunteer members of the Carmel fire department answered a call to Scenic Drive between Tenth and Ninth Avenues and took Mrs. Carol Weston, suffering from a heart condition, to the Peninsula Community Hospital.

This morning the ambulance picked up Veronica Concepcion at Tenth Avenue and San Carlos Street on a medical emergency call and took her to the same hospital.

Singing, Acting Good In Paint Your Wagon At The Forest Theater

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

Paint Your Wagon, the Broadway musical play by Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe, produced here by Thomas Brock and Robert Carson of the Wharf Theater, under sponsorship of the Forest Theater Guild, is an entertainment meeting the popular temper and another success by the authors of Brigadoon and My Fair Lady. The sets on the large stage of The Forest Theater, the shifting lights on various scenes, including a mountain and other wings adroitly rolled in, demonstrate the clever technical and scenic art work of Walter Scott and Ruth Allen. Even a hundred-year-old phaeton rolls in, crowded with women, in colorful dress of the period designed by Hazel McLellan. In lieu of an orchestra, Dave Taylor as music director performs the entire score alternately on an organ and piano, and Bun Webb plays a guitar and banjo. The subject, entirely Western and specifically Californian in the days of its "gold rush", lends itself to rough scenes and actions of miners, Mormons and adventurous women who went to these towns.

There is not the sequence of a strict operetta because the episodes are too numerous and divergent, but each is significant of the lives of prospectors who do not know where they are actually bound but have come under the spell of gold. Into their midst arrives a Mormon with two wives, Sarah, Lil Houle, and Elizabeth, Toni Field. There is excellent comedy in Toni Field's acting, when rebelling against her situation, she wishes to be "sold" to a miner. When the wagonload of women arrive, the lonely men are jubilant.

A ballet led by Yvonne, a French importation in the person of Linda Lion, who created the choreography, develops into a lively Can-Can and a man's reel that exhibits each miner in his own comic individuality. Failure of the "strike" causes an exodus from the locality.

Bill Houle as the Mexican, Julio Valveras in love with Jennifer Rumson whose father runs the town store, is finally successful in his search, and returns to the almost ghost town and finds Jennifer who now, "educated as a lady", has also returned and remained "true to him." Result, a happy ending!

Sandra Powers as Jennifer shows a strong talent for comedy with a touch of pathos when it is needed, and she put over her contralto singing with character and effect, as also does tenor, Doug Chandler as Ben Rumson, her father. Ted Cross as Jake Whippany, proprietor of The Fandango Palace, Steve Martin as Steve Bullnach, and Michael Keller as Edger P. Crocker all filled their parts with distinction. It is impossible to comment individually on the more than forty in the cast who all give a spirited and exceptional performance, thanks to Brock and Carson's directing, added to which was Nancy Ness Bowman's good coaching of the singers, including the chorus of eighteen men, of whom many are from Fort Ord. Songs like Jennifer's, What's goin' on here? and I Talk to The Trees, Julio's good singing of Another Autumn and They Call the Wind Maria are excellent musical parlance. Many of the themes are repeated in various keys for color and variety. A melancholy one of the lonely men's ballet is impressive and designed for saxophone in an orchestra. All are treated with simple harmonic construction that is logical.

Those not already mentioned in the cast are Dick Venezia, Herman Kowalski, Paul Colman, Elroy Naczek, George Blankenship, Lee Williams, Jack Scaremella, Robert Tenuta, Tom Coble, Donald Brown, Charles Drew, Leroy Patnude, Don Belanger, Jonathon Steele, Lucien Voden, Mel Murphy, Peter O'Dowd, Robert Craig, Dottie Weston, Akemi Ito, Rene Wurzmann, Edith Karas, Barbara Larsh, Elinor MacDonald, Ritamari Pinard, Carmalita Scott, Paul Johnson, Karl Keesling, Robert Wallace, Ben Morgan. Michel MacKay is the producing manager.

It will be repeated the next and following weekends. The flaming fires make sitting quite comfortable, and the beauty of the pines surround California's historical Forest Theater as well as its gold rush! We are happy to have it again in action, and the large audiences are enjoying it.

8 AND RUN MAKES BROADWAY

The Studio Theatre on Dolores in Carmel played host last Saturday night to New York theatrical producer Leonard Sillman at their production of the musical revue, 8 and Run. Mr. Sillman is on the west coast with his show Mask and Gown currently playing in San Francisco, and is looking for talent and material for his new revue, New Faces of 1959 which opens in New York the first of next year. Six numbers from the original Carmel revue, 8 and Run, written by Jerry De Bono, were optioned by Mr. Sillman to take back to New York to use in his new Broadway show after he saw Saturday night's performance.

The Labor Day weekend ends the run of the successful production 8 and Run playing for the last times this Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock at The Studio Theatre in Carmel. This original revue has been playing weekends since its July 3 opening and now gives way to a new farce written by Jerry De Bono who also authored 8 and Run. The new play is titled The Psyche of Diane O'Day and satirizes life behind the scenes in the New York TV industry. This new play opens Friday, September 19, in The Studio Theatre.

Edward S. Miller

Edward S. Miller died on August 22 in his home on Guadalupe Street after a short illness. He had lived in Carmel for 25 years and was employed by the Carmel street department until he retired three years ago.

Mr. Miller was born in Visalia on August 26, 1883. He worked for the Miller and Lux cattle company in the San Joaquin Valley before coming to live in Carmel.

Survivors are his wife, Rosella, of Carmel; two stepsons, William and Marian Adams of Carmel; four brothers, H. A. Miller of Los Angeles, Frank and Andrew Miller of Hollister and Robert Miller of Fresno; two sisters; Mrs. William Frey of Madera and Mrs. Belle Jones of Hollister, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Monday at the Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel with Chaplain John Wright officiating. Burial was in Mission Memorial Park.

CHULAR LAD WINS RILEY MEMORIAL AWARD

Reggie Old, member of the Chular 4H club, won the Patrick M. Riley Memorial Award of a registered Hereford heifer at the Monterey County Fair. Announcement of the prize winner was made at the Junior Livestock Auction on Saturday.

The Riley Memorial was established two years ago by Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Riley of Point Lobos in honor of their only son, a 4H club member, who was killed in an automobile accident. He had started a fine Hereford herd on his family's ranch. Mr. and Mrs. Riley maintain this herd and each year present a heifer to a deserving 4H member.

Any 4H club member wishing to be considered for this award should apply to the Farm Advisor in Salinas. The applicant must state the facilities he has to house the heifer, his willingness to carry insurance; and a statement from his parents signifying their desire and willingness to support the heifer-raising project.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The practical importance of the healing works of Christ Jesus to mankind today will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christ Jesus" will include the acount in John (9:1-7) of Jesus' healing of the blind man.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read this selection: "Christianity as Jesus taught it was not a creed, nor a system of ceremonies, nor a special gift from a ritualistic Jehovah; but it was the demonstration of divine Love casting out error and healing the sick, not merely in the name of Christ, or Truth, but in demonstration of Truth, as must be the case in the cycles of divine light" (135:26).

The Golden Text is from John (12:46): "I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness."

Charlotte Perry, co-director with Portia Mansfield of the Perry-Mansfield Camps and School of the Theatre, Steamboat Springs, Colorado, directed performances of Moliere's Love Is the Best Doctor, July 19 and 20, Thornton Wilder's farce, The Matchmaker, August 16 and 17, and Kismet, August 22 and 23. These productions are in the Perry-Mansfield Theatre Festival, July 19-August 24.

Miss Perry, who was guest director at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre in Carmel in 1957 and 1958, is director of drama at Santa Catalina School in Monterey and of Children's Theatre at the Cherry Foundation in Carmel. Students from the Peninsula working with her at Perry-Mansfield this summer include Donna Work of Pebble Beach, who appeared in the Moliere comedy, and Toni Lemos, Kathleen Mailliard and Judy Draper of Carmel.

The Time Has Come .

By Kippy Stuart

For goodness sakes! Look what they have done now! Our garden tools can soon be placed in a museum along with the horse and buggy for future generations to point toward with amusement. For now, we can buy our gardens by the yard, literally. All we need is a common pair of dressmaking shears, a comfortable seat in the patio and shape our garden to suit our taste.

It seems incredible but now we can buy roll-out gardens including lawns, flower beds and such, all fertilized and insured against insects. Chemistry's newest miracle promises to give every home gardener a green thumb. These backyard "yard goods" come in three basic types: lawns rolled with grass seed embedded in a thin fibrous mat; soluble planting tape containing flower or vegetable seeds; flower or grass carpet containing seeds which are organically fertilized.

All are easy to plant and reasonably priced. All seeds are accurately spaced for proper growth. In addition, the carpets provide a weed-free natural mulch requiring neither fertilizing nor top-soil dressing. Everybody is talking about these "by the yard gardens". Results from all three types in test areas are reported so successful that plans are being completed for widespread distribution. Flower gardens are reported to bloom six weeks after . . . (I can't say after planting, rather laying on of the strips.)

Let's not hold our breath waiting for these by-the-yard gardens. Right now the greatest garden pest known in this area is with us strong. White fly is coming en masse to destroy and wreck our gardens. Fuchsia seem to be the most vulnerable plant. White fly is not hard to detect, once you get on to the habits of the critter. Just walk up slow-like to one of your fuchsias . . . very gently shake a branch. You will see what looks like white ashes floating in the air, and you better get busy right now and spray. The white fly leaves a residue of black smoot on leaves and branches, and soon the plant will yellow itself to death.

Any garden supply or nursery will advise you on spray to eradicate white fly and the nice thing is, that while we are after white fly, a whole bunch of other insect pests will bite the dust and vamoose.

How to do it better with WATER

KEEP IT GREEN WITH WATER...

The best care for your lawn is regular and proper watering. An underground lawn sprinkling system is the most efficient method, and can save you money on your water bill too. A variety of sprinkler heads are available and you can even install disappearing heads that pop up out of the lawn when the water is turned on. You can have a metal, rubber or plastic hose system installed in a short time, and without tearing up your lawn.

Electrically powered pumps of California Water & Telephone Company are used where necessary to assure you of adequate pressure to operate your sprinkler system. They pump thousands of gallons of water each day and send it through hundreds of miles of pipes. These automatically controlled pumps provide the vital heartbeat that keeps water flowing in the lifelines of the system. Maintaining these pumps and their associated equipment is just one of the many unseen, day-to-day jobs California Water & Telephone Company does to bring safe, fresh water to you.

Janet Prentiss

Miss Janet Prentiss, writer and businesswoman who had lived in Carmel for 45 years, died on August 21 in a local rest home after a long period of failing health.

Miss Prentiss was born in Missouri on January 27, 1869, of New England ancestry. Four members of her family came to America in the Mayflower. She studied at the Art Students League in New York, spent a year studying drawing in Paris, and made three trips to Europe before deciding to be a writer. After being a journalism student of Walter Pitkin at Columbia University, she became a successful short story writer.

On a trip to California, Miss Prentiss visited Carmel in 1913 and remained to make her home. She was closely associated with the artistic life of Carmel when it was a village, collaborated with Perry Newberry in writing a story, and was appointed first librarian of the Harrison Memorial Library.

Later Miss Prentiss, with a partner, opened a dress shop which she named The Cinderella Shop, and added a women's exchange where Carmel housewives brought homecooked food which they sold to Cinderella Shop proprietors for resale. Miss Prentiss, for a time, ran a tea shop in connection with the dress shop using food she bought from Carmel women.

She abandoned the tea shop project after she became sole owner of the Cinderella Shop and expanded her business to include children's clothing. When her first shipment of little girls' dresses arrived, Bettie Greene rode a horse through town distributing printed announcements.

Miss Prentiss moved The Cinderella Shop to its present location when she purchased an Ocean Avenue building. Later, she established a branch shop in Burlingame before selling The Cinderella Shop to Mrs. Helen Lightner Dean, the present owner.

After retiring from business, Miss Prentiss lived in her Hatton Fields home, furnished with New England antiques, and devoted herself to gardening and a quiet life among her friends and books.

There are no close survivors, although several of Miss Prentiss' cousins live in Maine, Vermont and New York.

Private funeral services were held on Friday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea with Dr. Joseph M. Ewing of the Carmel Presbyterian Church officiating. Inurnment followed in Cemeterio El Encinal.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Miss Prentiss may do so in the form of donations to the Monterey County Heart Association, Box 1329, Monterey.

SUMMER GARDEN

My delicate mobile presence
Bends with this prodigious grant,
Becomes the tactile blue of the flag-lily,
Bears the gilded lemon wheel,
Partakes the saffron ball,
Burns the salvia wheat,
Rises in the deep delphinium dye
And weeps waxen tears
Of shells that undulate and flow
Borne in exchange and lost
Upon the cheek of one pale
Irridescent rose.

The secret brush is wild
In wings of touch,—
Where from the pots
Of spring's and summer's
Curious combined breath,
Spills out arrays of transposed hues
Into such tempest
Every ray
Of seized prismatic light
Rests locked within this nuptial memory...
Treasured and stored
In Beauty's leaves of time.

—CATHERINE GEIL.

BRIEF HARMONY

Within a well of fog
Drummed by cadences of surf
I knew an interlude of pines,
Their limbs, my thoughts wind-harped to sea
In fleeting chords of solitude.

—MARGARET G. HINDES.

IN OLD CARMEL

Go out in the woods and gather
The pine-boughs and the cones;
Pile them on the hearth together,
Strike the quick flame!
Ignite the sweet resinous needles,
Hear the crackle and flare
As the spirit leaps forth from the tree
The bright imprisoned shining one
Now soaring triumphant and free.
See the light of her joy reflected
On tinsel and toy and chair;
Let the night wind move in the weeds
And the dark waves crash on the shore
But smell of the boughs is Christmas
And the song and the sparkle of mirth;
And peace is the branch of a heavenly tree
Brushing the roofs of earth.

—DORA HAGEMEYER.

Here's An American Who Approves U. S. A. Exhibit At Brussels World Fair

Following is a letter from Thomas Brown to his aunt, Mrs. Willard W. Wheeler of Pebble Beach, describing his impressions of the Brussels World Fair. Mr. Brown is a graduate in architecture of the University of Illinois and has just finished three years' service in the Air Force. He plans to spend a year with an architectural firm in Copenhagen, then return to the United States to practice his profession.

As you know, having been recently emancipated from a 3-year military tour, all of which was doggedly served within the confines of our noxious state of Texas (necessitating this trip on my own expense), I was hardly, at the outset of this trip, in an overly benevolent frame of mind towards our governmental system. (My allergies to Texas, regimentation, U. S. auto design, TV, and the coffee break had developed definite anti-American tendencies). In Europe I played down the American background, somewhat ashamed, actually, of such as our envied wealth, racial idiocy, patronizing attitudes in Europe, and purported lack of culture and culinary appreciation. After four months, however, I fly an American flag on my aerial with more pride than I've felt since I outgrew my W. W. II-inspired patriotism, wear the Ivy League duds with relish—and have reorganized my comparative thinking considerably.

I must say that my enthusiasm for the countries visited has even surpassed expectation—I look forward to living and working this year in Europe—but still with every day and every eye-opening comparison, the above-mentioned feeling becomes stronger. The many reasons I must reserve for another less-hurried letter — here I can mention only one of the perhaps less important, but more timely, ones — the magnificent U. S. Pavilion at the Brussels Fair.

The whole of the exposition is truly a wondrous sight. Indigestion drove me thru splendid cities like Heidelberg in one day — but I remained for eight in Brussels, enthralled. My reaction is no doubt tempered by my architectural interest, as architecture is certainly the Fair's forte — all of it unbelievably good — aesthetically and structurally. But still everything, from the Japanese garden to the papier-mache Belgian village, imparts the feeling that I've heard expressed before from all your family regarding the past World Fairs — that it's a once-in-a-lifetime sort of thing.

Now — let me here happily and emphatically refute most of what I've read in the articles you've sent regarding the U. S. Pavilion. My first day I spent three hours thoroughly soaking in the monstrous offering of the USSR and have returned twice since, and then moved next door into Ed Stone's magnificent structure and was immediately struck with the feeling which has grown stronger with each successive day's visit — under close scrutiny from every angle — that the U. S., even with an undeniably much too tiny Congressional appropriation, has built the best at the fair. To emulate the articles I've read with the usual comparison is needless, too, I should say — as the Russian hodge-podge of insipid and tastelessly presented propaganda is not anywhere near the level of the U.S.—or the French, British, Canadian, Netherlands, Japanese, or German, for that matter. Composition, sublety, and that prime requisite of all design, aesthetic delight, were so entirely absent that I felt I thought I was no longer at the Fair when in that building (tho I did enjoy seeing all the 1958 Tatroplans).

The unbelievable creation of Stone's, enclosing a really delightful playground of water, living trees, and contemporary Americana with the largest covered building of this type in the world, has been too well documented in every publication from Time to Progressive Architecture for me to further describe here. Just let me say that the feeling imparted by the magnificently spacious, open interior is approached nowhere else in the Fair. There are many other fine, free-span buildings, like the French and British, but they are so filled to the ceiling with catwalks and alleys through displays that one can never really fully appreciate the whole effect, rather can only see small bits and pieces at a time.

So, obviously I've been mostly concerned with the pure design aspects of the Fair so far. Regarding the choice of subject matter (most loudly-voiced American complaints), even as untiring a critical analyst of everyone else's ideas as myself could find very little I'd want changed in our Pavilion. The presentation of our American way of life was done with taste, inspiration, and still humility — and certainly is of more interest to the thronging European crowds than machines and technicality. So we don't dwell on democracy, politics, technical aspects of mass production — so what! Our fine presentation of our way of life should make it glaringly obvious to the simplest Italian peasant that the aforementioned aspects of Americana are, if not above reproach, still unparalleled in the world today or we could never have achieved our present standard of living! Our exhibit is presented thoughtfully, without braggadocio, and tho evidently of no importance to the newspaper-sales-seeking correspondents, I've

WAC Group Meeting

Hans O. Schmitt will speak at a round table discussion group meeting, open only to members of the World Affairs Council, tomorrow evening at 8:00 o'clock in Carmel High School library. The subject is the recent rebellion in Indonesia: what it was, why it failed, and what it means to the United States.

From 1956-58 Mr. Schmitt taught at the University of Indonesia under contract with the University of California. At present he is a Phi Beta Kappa student at Berkeley completing work for his Ph.D. on Economics of Social Conflicts in Indonesia. He was born in Indonesia, received his early education there and later studied in China and the United States.

While in Carmel, Mr. Schmitt will be the guest of Captain Archer M.R. Allen (USN ret.) and Mrs. Allen.

Judith Ford Wed Saturday

Judith Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Freeman Ford of Pebble Beach and Pasadena, and Peter Winthrop Newman, son of Mr .and Mrs. Winthrop Payson Newman of Montecito, were married on Saturday afternoon in All Saints' Episcopal Church by the Reverend Kenneth Sandercock.

The reception following the ceremony was held in the Pebble Beach home of the bride's parents. After a honeymoon in Southern California the young couple will live in San Francisco.

Attend S. F. Press Conference

Symphony Guild president Mrs. Milton H. Shutes, with Guild past president Mrs. Burton Doolittle and Guild member Mrs. Robert McKever, were invited guests at the Monterey Peninsula Jazz Festival press conference at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco on Monday. They explained the Guild project of selling all boxes for the October 3, 4 and 5 Jazz Festival at the Fairgrounds. The Guild will also, under Mrs. McKever's chairmanship, open the Hunt Club at the Fairgrounds to boxholders and Guild invited guests during the three day event. Forty Guild members will take turns as hostesses and Jazz Festival stars will be honored guests at each of the two daily Guild parties in the Hunt Club. All proceeds raised by selling of boxes will be used by the Guild to support the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra.

Fishers Leave Tomorrow

Colonel and Mrs. Samuel H. Fisher leave tomorrow for their home in Melrose, Florida, after a ten-month visit in Carmel. Mrs. Fisher first came to Carmel in 1937 and for many years, as Emma Evans, was active in this community's musical life. Her two children, Hugh, now practicing law in Sacramento, and Doris (Mrs. Benjamin Kercheval) both graduated from local schools.

The Fishers plan to spend a month returning to Florida. On Saturday, with Mrs. Kercheval, they will attend the wedding of Mrs. Fisher's godchild, Louann McManus in Los Angeles. Mrs. Kercheval will come back to Carmel afterwards to await the return of her husband, Lieutenant Colonel Benjamin Kercheval, from Saigon on October 16, then with him and her two sons, Ben Jr. and Patrick, leave for Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

In the meantime her mother and Colonel Fisher will visit in Salt Lake City and Kentucky before attending Army commissioning, as a lieutenant, of Colonel Fisher's son, Hugh, at Fort Benning; then continue their journey to Florida.

On Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Roland Scheffler invited Carmel friends of Colonel and Mrs. Fisher to a farewell cocktail party.

Mrs. Wiegman's Family Birthday

Mrs. Beatrice Wiegman, who teaches seventh grade and girls' physical education at Sunset School, saw four of her five children and all of her seven grandchildren on Sunday, her birthday.

Friday evening Mrs. Wiegman's older daughter, Mrs. Grant M. Smith, flew to Carmel from Phoenix, Arizona, with her two children, Kim, five years old, and Denise, two. Saturday evening Mrs. Wiegman's younger daughter, Wendy, arrived home from camp at Lake Tahoe, in time to join her mother, sister, niece and nephew, for a trip to San Francisco on Sunday. There they met Mrs. Wiegman's son, Christopher, his wife, Joan, and their three children, Dawn, Christopher Jr. and Douglas who had driven from Eureka to be with Mrs. Wiegman on her birthday. On the way home the group from Carmel stopped in Palo Alto to see Mrs. Wiegman's eldest son, Paul, his wife, Jacqueline, and their sons, Kenneth and Michael.

Only member of her family not with Mrs. Wiegman on Sunday was her youngest son, Bob, who telephoned birthday greetings from Los Angeles. He arrives in Carmel this weekend for a visit.

This week is the first time in ten years that Mrs. Smith (Trixie) has seen all the members of her family within a few days, and she has met some of her nephews for the first time. She leaves Carmel tomorrow to return to Phoenix, marvelling at the increase in size and number of the Wiegman family.

Donna Douglas Wed In Mission

Saturday morning at 11:00 o'clock in Carmel Mission, Donna Mae Douglas and Peter Joseph Aldrete exchanged wedding rings and marriage vows in a Nuptial Mass celebrated by Father John McSweeney.

Standards of white gladioli were placed at each side of the chancel steps and at the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by John C. Giles Jr. Her white taffeta bridal gown had wide inserts of lace defining the boat neckline and waist of the cap-sleeved fitted bodice from which fell a full skirt flowing into a chapel train. A crown of pearls held her fingertip veil in place and she carried a white prayer book, the gift of Mrs. John C. Giles Jr., and a cascade arrangement of white roses and bouvardia.

Her attendants were Mrs. Julio Andrews of Palo Alto as matron of honor and bridesmaids Barbara Ann Balzer of Carmel, Elviera Anderson of Pacific Grove and Carolyn Neill of Palo Alto. They were dressed alike in sheaths of white polished cotton with an overall print of French blue and white flowers and full French blue organza overskirts open below the bow which tied them at the front waistline. Their velvet head bands with lace veils and their shoes matched the overskirts. They carried crescent bouquets, the matron of honor's white flowers, the bridesmaids', blue.

Joe Arnold of Daly City was best man for the groom, and ushers were Julio Andrews and Cleburt Bosset of Palo Alto and the groom's brother, Joseph Aldrete of Campbell.

Mrs. Elmer R. Douglas of Carmel, the bride's mother, wore a silk sheath dress and jacket printed in different shades of blue, a small light blue satin hat and navy blue shoes and purse. Her corsage was of white butterfly orchids.

Mrs. Joseph Aldrete of San Francisco attended her son's marriage in a rose taffeta fullskirted dress, matching shoes and hat worn with a white butterfly orchid corsage and a fur stole.

The blue and white color scheme of the wedding was carried out in the reception decorations at Spindrift Restaurant in Monterey where white spider chrysanthemums and carnations were arranged with blue tapers on the bridal table. An heirloom Italian lace and embroidery cloth covered the table on which stood the three-tiered wedding cake topped with white satin bells and surrounded with white bouvardia and carnations mingled with fern. The bride and groom cut the cake with a blue and white flower decorated knife which was used for the same purpose at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs.Giles. Mrs. Marian Morgan of Palo Alto circulated the guest book.

When the bridal couple left for a honeymoon at Forest Lake, Lake Tahoe and Las Vegas, the bride wore an avocado light wool sheath dress and matching fingertip jacket, brown hat, shoes and bag and a corsage of brown cymbidium orchids. After they return on September 5 they will live in Monterey at the home they purchased on Franklin Street.

The bride attended Carmel schools, Monterey Peninsula College and San Jose State College. Until her marriage she was a recreation specialist in Palo Alto.

Her husband, recreation director for the City of Monterey, attended Balboa High School in San Francisco, and San Francisco State College before serving for three years with the Coast Guard.

Herrick Annual Corn Feast

Every year Dr. Francis Herrick, professor of European history at Mills College, celebrates his birthday with a "corn chomping," as expressed by Richard Lofton. The annual Herrick corn feast was held on Saturday night at the Lofton home, also the girlhood home of Mrs. Herrick, daughter of the late Reverend and Mrs. Willis White of Carmel. (Mr. White originated the Carmel Kite Festival and Mrs. White was one of Sunset School's first teachers.)

Dr. Herrick's daughter, Meg, made two cakes for the birthday party, "one a checkerboard cake and the other meant to be checkered only it turned out marble."

Eating ears of corn with the Herrick and Lofton families this year were Dr. Bernhard Blume, professor of German at Harvard University, and Mrs. Blume; their two sons and their wives, Frank and Harriet Blume and Michael and Nichae Blume; Mr. and Mrs. Laidlaw Williams, Alice Williams, Boz Williams and the Williams' guest, Simon Wadleigh of London, Carmel High School's foreign exchange student for this year; Dr. Glenn Dumke, president of San Francisco State College, and Mrs. Dumke; Alan Rich, musical director of FM Station KPFA in Berkeley; and Miss Gertrude Rentdorff, dean of women at Monterey High School.

Missing from the party were Charles Herrick, Dr. and Mrs. Herrick's son, a Dartmouth College student spending the summer working in Hanover, New Hampshire; and the Herrick's older daughter, Mipsy, her husband Ben Slater and their two-year-old daughter Lucinda. The Slaters are at Pollock Pines ranger station near Placerville.

Colored Slides At Town House

Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, Worthington Hollyday will show colored slides depicting Wanderings in Scandinavia at Town House. Tea will be served following the program.

The current exhibit of paintings at Town House will remain on display through the month of September.

Miss Lindsay-Oliver Goes East

Miss Mary Lindsay-Oliver, Carmel musician, critic and painter, is leaving for the East on Sunday for a month's stay in Washington and New York. She will stop in Chicago to visit her brother, Colonel James Lindsay-Oliver, who lives at Evanston, also the editors of The Musical Leader which she represented in Washington and sends occasional accounts of music on the Peninsula. She will visit in Chevy Chase, Washington, with her pupils, the Misses Van Dyne, daughters of a former United States Minister to Algiers, and also with Dr. and Mrs. Stanwood Cobb who own the Chevy Chase Day School and a summer place in Maine, and who, not only commissioned her for two oil portraits of Dr. Cobb, but had her paint original frescos on the school walls. Dr. Cobb is an author of ethical books and a lecturer. He was for some years editor of the Baha'i Magazine. Miss Lindsay-Oliver also expects to deliver her portrait of the President to the White House, and being still a member of the National Symphony Orchestra Women's Committee, will probably be at the September luncheon of this group. She will visit the Congressional Library which contains some of her compositions, and the Mellon National Gallery. On the return journey she may stop in Detroit for the American Symphony League Critic's Conference to which she has been invited several times with no opportunity to attend.

EXTREMELY CHOICE WITH AN OCEAN VIEW

WE ARE PROUD OF THIS ONE—It is an immaculate 3-bedroom, 2 bath house. The floor plan is excellent, the construction is tops, and the architecture is just different enough to be interesting. If you're in the market for the best at a moderate price, by all means, see this one at $39,500. Exclusive.

CARMEL POINT CUSTOM-BUILT HOME

WE'RE PROUD OF THIS ONE, TOO—This is a 2-bedroom, 2-bath home that has hardly been lived in. It has a view of the valley and the lagoon. The out-of-town owner changed his plans and now must sell. The house has large rooms throughout, a full Hotpoint Kitchen, a basement, and is tastefully landscaped for minimum maintenance. $35,000. Exclusive.

LOT WITH PROTECTED VALLEY VIEW

THIS LOT IS IN AN EXCELLENT RESIDENTIAL AREA—It would lend itself nicely to a split-level house as it has a moderate grade. All utilities are underground. $6,000. Some terms available. Exclusive.

Here's An American Who Approves U. S. Exhibit At Brussels

read, is a remarkably beautiful package!

Certainly, all is not perfection. The interior partitions, tho imaginative and effective, are not in keeping with the basic building design (should have also been done by Stone). The restaurant is poorly staffed and lamentably high-priced (makes us look as tho we're out to fleece the visitor for every franc we can get). The ramp to the center of the large pool is obviously an afterthought that would better have been left unthought, and the many little move machines of American scenes, tho excellent in concept, were too blurred to attract many eyes; but these inevitable disappointments are forgotten after a look at Circarama or a few minutes watching the kids painting in their kindergarten.

As for some reactions other than my own — every American working there that I talked with just smiles when I mention the bad reports — they feel towards them as we do over here towards Radio Moscow—and they need only point to the milling crowds so eagerly asking countless questions to refute any doubts I have as to the European reaction. A Belgian hostess who speaks four languages and has heard unbiased comments backs this up — the Europeans are in actuality happily surprised that ours is so pleasantly easy-going and humane — neither patronizing nor over-powering—and as this is the audience we so urgently need to reach, (rather than the derisive Americans who can't recognize their country when they see it), we should all be grateful that the Fair committee was able to do so much with (I must mention it again) so little financial support.

(To think that a country like ours, which can spend 386 million on Foreign Aid to Yugoslavia would only donate 15 million to build this exhibition — certainly the best opportunity we've had in years to cement good relations with the people — not the politicians — of the world!)

Well, enough — I've been a bit carried away — dramatic and all that. But 'twas quite an experience — wanted to portray at least some of it to you all. Now I'm out of time and obviously out of ink. I'll close and get this late epistle mailed soon as I can find a P. O. Will write from Stockholm (be there in a day or so).

YACHTING PARTIES

A cocktail party is being given on Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Matthew C. Jenkins in their log cabin overlooking Stillwater Cove. Invited are members of the Stillwater Yacht Club, their guests, and out of town entrants in the Labor Day Invitational Mercury Regatta. Forty-eight boats are entered in this annual event. Shakedown races are on Saturday followed by two races on Sunday and the final race on Monday. There will be a Beach Club luncheon for participants, between the Sunday races and a dinner dance at the Beach Club for out-of-town yachtsmen in the evening preceded by a cocktail party at the home of Mrs. Paul Veeder. Trophies will be presented in Beach Club ceremonies on Monday after the last race.

Warren Brandon To Hold Classes In Watercolor

Warren Brandon, one of the founders of the Artists Cooperative Gallery in San Francisco, is planning a two-week series of watercolor painting classes in Carmel from September 2 to 13. Information regarding the instruction may be obtained from Artists' Guild of America Gallery, Monte Verde at Ocean, or from Zella Conan by calling FRontier 5-8658 evenings.

Mr. Brandon, whose works recently were exhibited at the Nevada Art Gallery, maintains studios both at San Francisco and in Reno. In August he gave a smiliar course of watercolor instruction in the Nevada city.

Beginning and advanced students are invited to register for the Carmel series.

or constructed to the extent of one for each 2,000 or 4,000 square feet of property area, after a variance for such use has been approved by the Planning Commission. No parking to be required for such residential use. Landscaping to be a 2% minimum. Present service stations to be considered as either non-conforming use, or established as legal variances. Present motels and courts in this area should be treated as non-conforming and allowed to exist until reconstruction is needed. Two are very old and depreciated and will be replaced soon.

Yellow Zone—C-1-S — An area directly adjacent to the C-1 Zone. All uses permitted in C-1 to be allowed, plus certain other uses now allowed in our present C-2 Zone. Apartments and multiple residential to be allowed on the basis of some formula of Density Control, such as 1 unit for each 1,000 square feet of property. Parking factor to be 66 2/3%. Landscaping to be 2% minimum. Existing multiple residential, motels, hotels, etc., to be treated as non-conforming. There are now 6 such in the Zone, with Planning Commission approved plans now on file for 2 more. This Zone creates adequate area for the expansion of regular C-1 uses for the future and will encourage the inter-mixture of commercial and multiple residential uses without the latter becoming dominant features.

Light Blue Zone—C-1-R — All commercial uses permitted in C-1 and C-1-S to be allowed. Multiple residential to be allowed as now permitted under our interim and Zoning Ordinances. 100% parking for mutiple residential to be required, but with Planning Commission to have authority to reduce parking requirements for certain mixed uses. Landscaping to be a minimum of 5% to maximum of 15%.

Dark Blue Zone—R-3—No commercial uses to be permitted in this Zone. Professional offices, public buildings, churches, etc., to be allowed. Multiple residential to be permitted as in C-1-R Zone but with additional controls such as decreased building height — setbacks from property lines facing on the adjacent R-1 Zone. Increase landscaping requirements to a minimum of 10%.

Green Striped Areas—Are areas in the present R-1 Zone suggested as being practicable for future acquisition by the City for parking or parks. The areas numbered 1-2-3 are of particular importance as they are needed as buffer zones between the present R-1 and proposed C-1 and C-1-S Zones.

Black Striped Areas—This symbol is applied to properties now owned by the City—School District—Churches, Public Utilities and National Oganizations.

Boxed X'd Areas—This symbol shows the Major Non-conformances which will be created by this proposed Zoning. The colors used show the Zone the uses should be in. Some can be corrected now by altering the suggested Zone boundaries.

State Experts Here On Edgren Murder Case

tor, and Roy Lewis, fingerprint expert, will go over the premises with Chief Klaumann.

Mrs. Edgren was found by Mrs. Mary A. Goold, who lives in an apartment on Ocean Avenue. When Mrs. Goold did not see Mrs. Edgren go by on her daily trips to town Monday, she went to her home to investigate. Nine year old Rory McFadden, son of Patrick McFadden, a neighbor of Mrs. Edgren, told Mrs. Goold that the rear door was open and they entered the house. When Mrs. Goold found the body she asked Rory to phone the police.

Several persons saw Mrs. Edgren down town Sunday. The latest report of her is at 2:50 in the afternoon, when Mrs. Jean Elsen saw her pass her home on the south east corner of Eighth and Junipero. She was a familiar figure, had lived in Carmel for many years, made regular trips to town, always wore outfits she had knit herself.

Recently she had suffered from lapses of memory and on several occasions, when she had become confused, had been brought home by persons who had found her wandering about. She was unwilling to admit into her home the nurses that her son, Dr. Robert W. Edgreh, Jr., a professor at Mills College, had engaged for her from time to time. She was known to carry large sums of money, and Dr. Edgren had recently redeposited $1000 she had drawn from the bank.

Mrs. Helen Maude Edgren was born in Elgin, Illinois on January 17, 1876. During her childhood she lived on a ranch near Livermore and went to school in Oakland. She graduated from the University of California as a mathematics major in 1898 and then taught at San Quentin.

Her marriage to the late Robert W. Edgren, sports editor and newspaper columnist, took place on July 4, 1900. She and her husband lived in New York before returning to California in 1918. They moved here in 1928 and lived in the Monterey Peninsula Country Club area until Mr. Edgren's death in 1939. Mrs. Edgren lived at Carmel Highlands for two years, while her son, Robert Edgren was stationed at Fort Ord, then moved to Carmel.

Her only surviving relative is her son, now professor of psychology at Mills College.

Funeral services for Mrs. Edgren, conducted by the Reverend Bernard N. Loygren, rector of St. John's Chapel, were held this morning in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea.

lated 130 miles per hour. Even so, the trip takes nearly four hours, and comfort stations have been provided at ground level for those who need frequent comforting.

The first is located at Carmel. Cars may make the turn-off here and proceed, downgrade, under their own power into town. The Carmel station is beautifully situated in a pleasant old house overlooking the Valley, entirely surrounded by flowers. The house and garden belonged to an eccentric beauty-lover named Stuart, and the town of Carmel, which has preserved its uniqueness nearly 200 years by combining old with new, courageously refused to tear down the house or plow under the garden. Simple changes were made to accommodate the place to its present purpose and a refreshment bar put in.

On a cloud a few hundred feet above, sits a smiling, interested figure in corduroy overalls looking down on weary travellers being comforted and refreshed. Kippy, too, refused to be plowed under.

PROPELLER LOST, FIRE STARTS

Steven Gann and Deen Rowe arrived home on Tuesday, a day late. The plane on which they were coming home from a European summer lost a propeller over Montana, then caught afire. Bundled in safety jackets the boys experienced a forced landing on a B-17 landing field and next day took another plane home.

Betty Chase-Dunn

Mrs. Betty Ann Chase-Dunn was found dead Monday morning below the Carmel Valley Road near the Farm Center. She had apparently been thrown from her small foreign car after it left the roadway and overturned down a 40 foot embankment.

Mrs. Chase-Dunn lived on Monterey Street between First and Second Avenues. She was a waitress at the Naval Postgraduate School, a position she had held for a month. Before that she was employed by Fortier's Drug Store in Carmel.

Mrs. Chase-Dunn was born in Stockton on February 16, 1923. During World War II she was a member of the Marine Corps. She was a member of the Carmel Crafts Guild and had lived here for two years.

She is survived by three children, Laurel Ann, two; Kevin, four; and Ian, eight years old; her father R. H. Graser of Porterville; her stepfather O. W. Busby of Irvin, Texas; and a sister Mrs. June Sherman of Tulare.

Funeral services were held this morning in the Paul Funeral Chapel. Burial will be in the family plot in Tulare Memorial Cemetery.

made a separate drive had they not been brought under the Chest umbrella for 1959.

"I sincerely hope that all donors will remember this when they make their Chest donation this year. Of course this will mean larger individual donations, but if payments are extended over a period of six or twelve months, it will be no strain on the pocketbook," Mr. Osborne said. "The services of the 20 Community Chest member agencies are important to every one on this Peninsula and are used by approximately three quarters of the 27,000 families residing within the boundaries served by your Community Chest."
